1 ANZAC MEMORIAL, NORTHCOTE  A fitting tribute

Set inside the 13-hectare All Nations Park, the Anzac Memorial honours those who fought in the two World Wars. The memorial features a Veterans Walk and a bronze sculpture of HMAS Berrima, which served in Australia’s first naval conflict in WWII.

2 HEIDELBERG REPAT Care and commemoration

Opening as a military hospital in 1941, this facility became a repatriation hospital in 1947. Memorabilia, plaques, a Gallipoli Garden Memorial and a recent chapel with stained glass windows, acknowledge this special history.

3 SIGNALS CORP MUSEUM  Keeping the lines of communication open

This museum is dedicated to the history of the Royal Australian Signals Corp. The museum holds a large collection of operator and maintenance manuals and a reference library is available.

4 PUCKAPUNYAL ARMY BASE  Preparing troops for combat

Opening in 1939, the Base has prepared troops for WWII, the Korean and Vietnam Wars, and is still used today. The Australian Army Tank Museum has a display of over 70 armoured fighting vehicles.

5 ITALIAN POW MEMORIAL  Enemies, only through war

In WWII, 4,000 Italian, German and Japanese POWs were detained at Murchison. Those who died at the camp were buried at the local cemetery. They were later moved to a striking mausoleum, the Ossario.

---

This was not a ‘land fit for heroes’, but a land of heroes!

Stand in the Calder Woodburn Memorial Avenue and reflect on the need of one man to immortalise the sacrifice of his son and others like him. See the memorials built to honour the service of men and women, such as ‘Weary’ Dunlop. Be moved by the evocative Vietnam Veterans Commemorative Walk at Seymour.

Hear the stories of the Italian, German and Japanese prisoners of war detained during the Second World War. Memorials to those who died whilst interned are found at the Tatura and Murchison area.

Take in the Wodonga area, rich in both army and migrant history. Why not try something different and plan a special vintage flight at the Benalla Aviation Museum.

Follow in the footsteps of raw recruits as they travelled by train or truck to training camps. Camps in Seymour, Puckapunyal, Benalla and Bonegilla received the young enlistees and prepared them for War. Eager to serve and filled with the spirit of adventure, they passed through the camps and left to fight overseas. So many of them did not return.

---

100 places for 100 years - Victorian War Heritage Trails commemorates the Anzac Centenary. An App and a series of complimentary brochures guide visitors to important war memorials across Victoria by way of eight tour routes from North-West Victoria to Central Melbourne to Gippsland.

The free App may be downloaded via the Apple App Store or Google Play Store. The brochures and fold out maps detailing the eight tour routes may be downloaded at http://anzaccentenary.vic.gov.au

The Anzac Centenary provides an opportunity to acknowledge Australia’s contribution to war and the impacts it had on our nation. 100 places for 100 years enables us to reflect on Anzac traditions and consider the contribution of all Victorians. Between 2014 and 2018 Victoria will join global commemorations to mark the centenary of the First World War.

---

Heritage Council Victoria

Victoria

---

100 places for 100 years

NORTHERN VICTORIA

VICTORIAN WAR HERITAGE TRAILS
for this WWII Avenue, spanning 20km of Woodburn, it memorialises his son Calder and 110 local servicemen who died in the conflict.

The Private Robert Mactier Statue, in a park of the same name, was unveiled in 1918, awarded the Victoria Cross in 1918. Mactier was born and raised in Tatura. Hogan St, Tatura.

The ‘stuff ‘ to serve an army
Vehicles, artillery, uniforms, medals, rations packs, hexamine stoves – even a tank. All this and more in this eclectic museum!

Three statues honour local Victoria Cross recipients: Lieutenant Leslie Maygar, ALH, (Boer War), Corporal Alexander Burton, AIF, (Gallipoli) and Lieutenant Frederick Tubb, AIF, (Gallipoli).

Open Mon to Sat 9.30-4.40.

The site of the Seymour Camp, used in WWI for training Infantry and Light Horse Regiments. Ruins and relics of the camp remain.

Goulburn Valley Highway, Seymour East.

Benalla Aviation Museum
Up, up and away
This museum focuses on military air training history with working displays, flight simulators and restored jets. Book flights on a vintage training plane.

Benalla Airport, Samaria Road. Open Wed & Sun 9-3.

Sit and reflect
Interpretative panels, memorabilia, service lists and photographs - many supplied by veterans - tell the story of a controversial war. Vietnam is represented with blue guns planted to symbolise rubber trees and grasses as the rice paddies.

High Street, Seymour.

The bravest of towns
Three statues honour local Victoria Cross recipients: Lieutenant Leslie Maygar, ALH, (Boer War), Corporal Alexander Burton, AIF, (Gallipoli) and Lieutenant Frederick Tubb, AIF, (Gallipoli).

Open Mon to Fri, 1-3, weekends 2-4.

Sir Edward 'Weary' Dunlop stands at the entrance to the Botanic Gardens. A granite memorial to Captain 'Hec' Waller, commander of the Tenth Destroyer Flotilla in the Mediterranean, is nearby.

Midland Highway, Benalla.

The ‘stuff ‘ to serve an army
Vehicles, artillery, uniforms, medals, rations packs, hexamine stoves – even a tank. All this and more in this eclectic museum!

Three statues honour local Victoria Cross recipients: Lieutenant Leslie Maygar, ALH, (Boer War), Corporal Alexander Burton, AIF, (Gallipoli) and Lieutenant Frederick Tubb, AIF, (Gallipoli).

Open Mon to Sat 9.30-4.40.

The site of the Seymour Camp, used in WWI for training Infantry and Light Horse Regiments. Ruins and relics of the camp remain.

Goulburn Valley Highway, Seymour East.